

FILM & SOUP NIGHT

YEA RIVER CATCHMENT LANDCARE GROUP invites you to a
NIGHT at the MOVIES.

Feast on warm, home-made soup, then sit back and let Ian Herbert (physicist and a founding member of the Landcare Gecko Clan) open the night with 'The Physics of Climate Change' – where we are with CO₂, methane and the carbon budget.

Then settle in to view:

THE AGE OF THE STUPID

Oscar-nominated Pete Postlethwaite stars as a man living in the devastated future world of 2055, looking back at old footage from our time and asking: 'Why didn't we save ourselves when we had the chance?'

The film poses the question: how can consumerism and the social, psychological and environmental destabilisation that it often produces be better managed? With London under water, Vegas under sand, Sydney on fire and the Taj Mahal in ruins, the film is a drama-documentary-animation hybrid, intertwining footage of real people from around the world with Postlethwaite's fictional character.

'So tightly constructed and dynamic, you leave the cinema energised rather than terrified. Hits home like a hammer blow.' The ABC

'Bold, supremely provocative and hugely important.' The Telegraph

'An engaging and urgent attempt to make us all see sense about climate change.'
The Sydney Morning Herald

WHEN: 7 pm; Friday, 1 September 2017

WHERE: The Butter Factory, 13 Rattray St, YEA

COST: $10 donation (includes a choice of home-made soups and bread)

RSVP: 25 August, Prue King: prudencenz@hotmail.com/0412 753 385